We pray the Court may grant as liberty and power to contract for and have built an addition to the said house of the dimensions of 27' by 24' of two stories, and we further represent that we are advised the best there of will not exceed the sum of £200. Helen,
Ok, hopefully I can clearly explain what I found;

I did not find anything for Thomas Appleton purchasing any property, there is a sale from John Budd to a Sarah Ray or Rye in 1764 in Deed L2 pg 21
In 1795 there is a Deed N2 pg 220 from a Thomas Appleton to Benjamin Hollet
In 1816 Joseph, his wife Jane and Lewis Appleton sold a property to John Butler in deed R3 246
Also 1816 Lewis alone purchase property from a Mary Buck in Deed P6 487
I did not find anything listing John

These deeds are very old of course and I am not able to read all parts of the deed, so I'm not sure what the properties for these deeds are. Believe it or not the property lines were described as from a rock on the corner to the black oak tree etc. It's quite unbelievable.
Anyway I don't know if you can determine if this is the same Thomas you are looking for. Copies for the listed documents would be $2.00 per page. I believe they were all 2 pages except one was 3 pages. Let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you! Thomas Appleton purchased two properties in Blackbird Forest prior to 1805. When he died in 1811 one property went to his sons Lewis & Joseph Appleton and the 2nd piece went to sons Thomas (Jr.) and John Appleton. I believe the 2nd one was sold before 1820 and that is what I really want to find.

With that said, I will be most happy to receive any information on the above. And of course, I will pay for the copies.

Sincerely,

Appleton, respectfully represents: That she is the widow of John Appleton, late of St. Georges Hundred, New Castle County, State aforesaid, deceased: that said Jphn Appleton prior to his marriage with your petitioner, entered into a marriage contract with her in which he agrees to make provision for her in lieu of any interest she might have in his estate; that said decedent made certain provisions in his will for your petitioner in the line of said marriage contract; that the provisions made for your petitioner in the will of said decedent, are impracticable and void; that she has therefore made her election in the Orphans Court of the State of Delaware, in and for ~~Kent~~ New Castle County, to take her dower in the real estate of said decedent, instead of the provisions made for her in lieu thereof in the will of said decedent; that she is therefore entitled to dower in the real estate of said decedent; that an order has been made by this court for the sale of the real estate of the said decedent for the payment of his debts; your petitioner waives the assignment of her dower in real estate of said decedent by metes and bounds and elects to take in lieu thereof, an equivalent share of the proceeds of the sale of said real estate and prays that said order of sale may be amended ~~ax~~ so that the sale of said real estate may be made clear and discharged from her dower therein.

JAMES RYLAND was born in Belmont County, Ohio, March 31, 1820. He is the son of Samuel and Hannah (Myers) Ryland, both natives of the Keystone State. They had two children—James and Matilda. They moved to Belmont County in an early day, where the father died when James was about four years of age. After her husband's death, Mrs. Ryland went to live with her parents in Wayne County, Ohio. Here she was married to Thomas Appleton, and, after some years, they moved to Summit County. There James was reared, receiving but a limited education. He was married to Miss Charlotte Bond April 20, 1841. This lady was born in Genesee County, N. Y., December 25, 1820. In 1847, Mr. Ryland moved with his family and settled on the place he now owns in Allen Township. The land was covered with timber, but they were frugal and industrious, and soon were comfortably situated. In their family were six children, viz.: Francis M., James A., George W., C. Albert and Alfred A., living, and Olive C., deceased. Francis M. went out as a private during the late war, and was promoted to a Lieutenant. Mr. Ryland owns 159 acres of well-improved land, which he and wife have obtained by their own endeavors. They are reading, intelligent people, and have given their children good educations. Four of the sons are experienced and successful school teachers.

GEORGE M. SCHWAB was born October 27, 1837, in Baden, Germany. He is the son of George and Margaret (Schanline) Schwab, both of whom were natives of Baden. The father was an honest, hard-working farmer; he died in Baden when George was a child, and, in 1848, the mother with the son came to this country and settled at Avilla, in this county, where she resided the remainder of her days. George M. Schwab received a common-school education, and when about sixteen years of age went to Stark County, Ohio, where he worked on a farm some time; he then returned to Indiana, and for some time drove a bus at Fort Wayne, after which, he drove stage for some time between Cincinnati and Georgetown; he also worked in a hotel in Pittsburgh, Penn., some time. In 1860, he purchased forty acres of land, where he now lives, and began farming and stock-raising, a business he has since followed. He was married to Miss Mary Smith December 27, 1859, a native of Wurtemberg, Germany, where she was born April 21, 1834. Mr. Schwab has a nicely-improved farm, and raises good stock of all kinds. He is a Democrat and a member of the Lutheran Church.

ISAAC SHAMBAUGH is a native of Snyder County, Penn., his birth occurring June 17, 1825. He is one of thirteen children, eleven yet living, born to Christian and Mary (Walter) Shambaugh, also natives of the "Keystone State." Christian Shambaugh was a wagon-maker and farmer. After the American Civil War, with railroads from the East reaching only as far as Kansas, a huge profitable industry in cattle emerged, as vast herds were driven up from Texas for shipment to the East.

The first town the drovers and cowboys on the Chisholm Trail would hit after clearing the Indian Territory (Oklahoma) was Caldwell, in Sumner County, Kansas. It was inevitably a magnet for outlaws, gamblers, and "soiled doves," ready to relieve the cowboys of their lonesomeness, their thirst, and particularly their money. Caldwell was a tough town.

This lawless state of affairs gave rise to a generation of legendary lawmen, but the backlash on the part of respectable citizens led to vigilante enforcement until the law arrived. Caldwell, in particular, was famous for its lynchings. When the Jim Talbott gang gunned down the mayor and town marshall in 1881, the new mayor, Albert C. Colson (1843-1924), brought in Henry Newton Brown, a gunfighter wanted for murder in New Mexico -- one of Billy the Kid's henchmen. The new marshall did a good job in town, but was himself lynched for his part in a bank holdup elsewhere. The lurid goings-on have been embellished even more by movies and television, but the tall tales and legends had their genesis in contemporaneous accounts.

Much of what we know of wild and woolly Sumner County comes from the book MIDNIGHT TO NOONDAY, or DARK DEEDS REVEALED, published in 1890 by G. D. [George Doud] Freeman (1842-1913). The book proved so popular that Freeman issued a second edition in 1892, this time with 14 illustrations. Either edition, long out of print, is a collector's item; book dealers will get $400 and upwards for a copy in good condition.

After the American Civil War, with railroads from the East reaching only as far as Kansas, a huge profitable industry in cattle emerged, as vast herds were driven up from Texas for shipment to the East.

The first town the drovers and cowboys on the Chisholm Trail would hit after crossing the Indian Territory (Oklahoma) was Caldwell, in Sumner County, Kansas. It was inevitably a magnet for outlaws, gamblers, and "soiled doves," ready to relieve the cowboys of their lonesomeness, their thirst, and particularly their money. Caldwell was a tough town.

This lawless state of affairs gave rise to a generation of legendary lawmen, but the backlash on the part of respectable citizens led to vigilante enforcement until the law arrived. Caldwell, in particular, was famous for its lynchings. When the Jim Talbot gang gunned down the mayor and town marshall in 1881, the new mayor, Albert C. Colson (1843-1925), brought in Henry Newton Brown, a gunfighter wanted for murder in New Mexico -- one of Billy the Kid's henchmen. The new marshall did a good job in town, but was himself lynched for his part in a bank holdup elsewhere. The wild goings-on have been embellished even more by movies and television, but the tall tales and legends had their genesis in contemporaneous accounts.

Much of what we know of wild and wooly Sumner County comes from the book MIDNIGHT TO NOONDAY, or DARK DEEDS REVEALED, published in 1890 by G. D. (George Doud) Freeman (1842-1913). The book proved so popular that Freeman issued a second edition in 1892, this time with 14 illustrations. Either edition, carefully of which, is a collector's item; book dealers will get $400 and upwards for a copy in good condition.

Reprints were issued by the Sumner County Historical Assn. in 1976, and the University of Oklahoma Press in 1984.

The nature of the book is obvious from the full title page:

"MIDNIGHT TO NOONDAY, or THE INCIDENTAL HISTORY OF SOUTHERN KANSAS AND THE INDIAN TERRITORY, Giving Twenty Years Experience on the Frontier; Also the Murder of Pat Hennessy, and the Hanging of Tom. Smith, at Ryland's Ford, and Facts Concerning the TALBOTT RAID ON CALDWELL -- also the DEATH DEALING CAREER OF McCARTY and Incidents Happening in and around Caldwell, Kansas, from 1871 until 1890."

Not that the true events needed much embellishment. A contemporary, George Fletcher, said "Freeman's book is a pretty good and true story; but he tried to make himself out a brave man, but he was the biggest coward in town." Perhaps one of the tallest tales was that of the book's authorship. Freeman told the stories all over town, but they were ghostwritten for him by James A. Ryland, Mayor Colson's former partner, who was well-read and literate.

James Ryland was neither a gunfighter nor a politician, but a schoolteacher who built a large farm after a rocky start. He was born in Allen, Noble County, Indiana, Feb. 28, 1847. Shortly after he arrived in Kansas to seek his fortune, he married Harriet E. Blair (who was 20 years old in the 1875 state census). They had two sons, Walter (born June 1874) and John F. Ryland (Dec. 6, 1875). Harriet was frail after her second delivery and died three months later. James then married a 15-year-old girl, Louise C. Hall; they had a son, Byrd Worthington Ryland, in 1879. James died in Colorado Springs, Colo., in 1933.

Like most county histories, MIDNIGHT AND NOONDAY was filled out with profiles of prominent local citizens -- including James A. Ryland! Knowing the true authorship puts an interesting spin on the sketch that follows (pages 398-400).

J. A. Ryland, as, perhaps, the reader may remember, came to Caldwell from Slate Creek, with myself and others, on May 25, 1871. Soon after his arrival he formed a partnership with A. M. Colson to engage in the stock business. The company thus formed located on a claim on the Chicaskia River, six miles northeast of Caldwell. Here the boys erected a hewn log house, in which to live and call "home" while they followed the business mentioned above. They bought from different herds, at a low price, sore-footed cattle that from the effects of the long drive on the trail had become so disabled that they could not be driven any farther toward the shipping point. Buying those cattle at so low a price, with limited means the boys got together a herd of 125 head. Most of the cattle, after resting awhile, became well; but the uncommonly severe winter of 1871 and 1872 caused a large number of the brutes to succumb to the severity of the winter storms, and in the spring of 1872 the original number of cattle was found to have decreased by about half. The firm now dissolved, Mr. Ryland retaining the claim, which, by the way, was a very desirable one and susceptible of being made into a fine home and a grand farm. It is still owned by the original settler and by him has been well improved, and is known by the name of "Riverside."

In the fall of 1873 Mr. Ryland -- in Indiana, his native state, having received a fair academic education -- concluded to engage in his former occupation, that of a teacher. On October 6, he took charge of the public school of Wellington, the county seat of Sumner County. After six months teaching, he again returned to his farm and endeavored to raise a crop, but the drouth of 1874 nipped the crop in the bud, and in July the grass-hoppers closed the deal, leaving the farmer naught for his labor.

In September, 1874, Mr. Ryland was appointed examiner of applicants for teachers' certificates, which position he held for two years, and finally resigned to go east and make a lengthy visit with friends. In the winter of 1874 and 1875, and also in 1875 and 1876, we find the subject of this sketch engaged in teaching the school at Alton, Kan. He has also taught school at other places at different times since then, but his chief occupation has been that of a farmer and stock-raiser. He has always seemed to be willing to "labor and to wait," having great faith in the future of Southern Kansas. He has accumulated quite a considerable of this world's goods, so that now, I am told, he owns property to the amount of from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars, having his original farm as a home, and sufficient "filthy lucre" to keep the "wolf from the door."

Ryland James was born in eastern Ohio March 31, 1820 and died at his home in Allen Twp, Noble County, July 24, 1902, aged 82 years 3 months and 23 days. His father died when he was 4 years old, leaving his mother in poor circumstances and unable to give him any education. His total schooling consisted of 30 days. He educated himself later sufficiently to read the Bible, which was his only book. He often spoke of his grandmother who taught him when a child to nightly kneel at her side and pray. The descent of his grandmother is unknown but his grandfather was a German. He was married at the age of 21 to Charlotte Bond (who yet survives) in Portage, now Summit County, Ohio. Five sons and one daughter were born to this union, of whom 4 sons survive. He migrated with his wife and 2 children to the wilds of Noble County in Oct. 1847 and settled and remained on the same farm until his decease. At the age of 18 he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Known for his honesty, on one occasion a merchant took his word as to the number of bushels in a load of corn and was surprised later to receive money which a subsequent measurement of his wagon showed to be due. Funeral was at Mt. Pleasant Church on July 26. Burial, Mt. Pleasant Cemetery. ^ 8-1-1902

Dear Helen,

We are not certain, but we think the sister Charlotte was visiting in Lima when she died was Mary Hungerford.

John W. married in Richland Co. in 1823, but he is not there in the 1820 Census. I found a document that puts him (I believe it's him) in Columbiana Co. in 1818, and indeed there are 2 John Myers in Columbiana Co. in the 1820 Census.

As expected, no reply yet from Marlin. What concerns me is that he returns to teaching in 2-3 weeks and at that point, will have a ready-made excuse. You're right: as a history teacher, one would think he would have more interest in family history.

Hope you have a great time in Lima.

Sincerely,
JFR

P.S. I'm suffering from "information overload" right now. Do we have Eph's exact birthdate? I'm too tired to go back through all my papers.
P.P.S. I love the Elizabeth Yeiser theory!

Harman Cemetery

The original Harman Cemetery does not have a plat available, however there are some records of sales of lots in the County Recorder's office. This consists of Row 1 through 24. These stones are in very bad condition.

1924 Addition: (Rows 25-30) The numbering is not consistent and the size of the lots vary. The first six rows are at the south east corner (the front of the cemetery.) Lot 7 is located at the north east corner of the addition (Back of the cemetery), following row goes west and so on until lot number 53. Then Lot 54 and 55 are along the drive. The rest of the lots are not platted.

Agner Addition:(Row 31-46) the numbering commences at the south west corner (at the road) numbering to the east for 14 lots, second row and each row thereafter starts at the south west side again, completely through the back section.

Ernest and Rice's Addition: (Row 47-55) numbering commences at the north east corner (Back of the cemetery) numbering to the west for 10 lots; then lot 11, the second row, numbers to the east; third row numbers to the west, back and forth to the front of the cemetery.

1933 Addition: (Row 56-70) numbering commences at the south west corner (next to the road) and goes east for 15 lots, second row numbers to the east, third row back to the east and so forth, to the back of the cemetery.

You will also find people buried in walkways between the graves and on the township records these graves are designated as "walkways". The lot sizes vary in the different additions with some lots consisting of 5 graves and others 6 to 8 graves, depending on the size of the casket buried (adult or child). Many years ago the back section was used as a pauper cemetery. No record of the people buried there can be found. Due to the shortage of available lots, the Township is presently reselling this area. Hence burial at the present time is scattered.

Not having the plat at the time we started our work, we started numbering our rows and graves commencing at the northwest corner of the cemetery in Old Harman (at the very back corner) numbering the rows from west to the east, and numbering grave markers from north to the south (or from back to the front of the cemetery). Then we started the back section (graves north of the east and west driveway) the same way, commencing at the northwest corner and numbering the rows from west to the east and the grave markers from north to the south (or from the back fence to the drive). These are designated (BACK SECTION) BS 1-1.

Graves from Hardin Cemetery, located on the farm of Pioneer settler, Abram Hardin, on the north bank of the river at Road 7, were moved to Harman Cemetery.

the entire length of the Reserve. The lands of the Reserve were divided into shares, with each township number being placed in a box. Some of the townships—those which were "Equalizing"—were held out. Stockholders of the land company then drew lots, and the townships which needed equalizing were then brought up to average with the equalizer townships.

There were 400 shares, valued at $3,000 each. Residents of Connecticut could buy as little as a fraction of a share, or more than a share if they could raise the money. It was not unusual for several citizens to form their own small land company with pooled resources and buy a number of shares, deciding among themselves the order of choice for the sections of land they bought.

The record of all these land purchases was maintained in a large book called "The Book of Drafts." It was the foundation for all land titles in the Connecticut Western Reserve.

NORTHFIELD CENTER

When the settler determined the location of his property, he set to work to build a cabin wherever he saw fit, regardless of any conformity, because all was a dense forest. Cabins were well under way at other points before any settlement began at the Center.

In 1825 the first log house appeared. It was a school house built on the spot which later became the Center of Northfield. A watering trough was built and a pump was installed to furnish water, our first "public utility."

Perrin's History of Summit County notes that the first dwelling at the Center was a round-log house built by Hezekiah H. Palmer in 1832. The house was about thirty-feet square, and was divided by partitions into bedroom and sitting room.

In 1833, George Lillie built the second which was soon followed by a third one built by Lucien Bliss.

In 1833 or 1834 Milton Arthur built a store-room and equipped it with $500 worth of goods. The goods were of general assortment, which he purchased in Cleveland. This was a great accommodation to the settlers, although not much of a money-making venture. There were few customers and little money.

Another building, housing a small supply of goods, was built by B. F. Cannon. In a short time he sold his store to Hosea and Lucien Bliss, who managed a larger stock of goods.

Shortly after this, Frank Allen tried his hand in building a store, and sold a general assortment of goods.

Many country stores were attempted, but very few were profitable. Some merchants kept their stores on a basis of aid to the settlers, and received scarcely enough to pay expenses.

Later, a few other merchants tried their luck. Some of these were: Mr. Putnam, Woodman and Howe, James Mc-Elroy, Nelson Decker, M. O'Neil, S. K. Alexander, Lynn and Logue, and J. G. Alexander in 1881. All these storekeepers kept practical things to sell, and dealt also in country produce. If too much country produce accumulated, it was shipped to Cleveland and even to Pittsburgh. As the need of other types of merchandise developed, someone attempted to produce it, and so other industries began.

Bliss and Taubman opened a clothing store and sold ready-made garments. Taubman was a tailor and made clothing of any description, upon order, and under short notice.

In 1841, O. A. Bishop built a tavern which he opened to the public for entertainment. This building, located on the left side of Brandywine Road, did a good business until the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad was built through the township. It was then used as a grocery store and housed the Post Office. It later fell into the hands of George Bishop (a son). At times he became a little careless about ordering goods when he was sold out of them. Upon one occasion, Claribelle Shoemaker, teacher, wished to buy some materials for school decorations. It so happened that Mr. Bishop was out of everything she wanted. The teacher was so disappointed that she proceeded to "bawl him out" quite properly for his negligence. Bishop became quite perturbed, and said rather snappily, "Madame, I wish I had that tongue of yours." "Why?" she inquired. "It would make my fortune," he retorted. "Oh, no it wouldn't," the teacher retaliated, "You wouldn't have the brains enough to run it."

MAN'S NEEDS ARE MET

Seems whenever a need arises, someone comes forward to meet it. How much a carpenter was needed! And here in 1833 appeared Ambrose Bliss, a very fine carpenter. He was the first carpenter in this township.

By 1834 we needed a post office. At this point the post office at Brandywine was moved to the Center. George Lillie, having obtained a commission, became the Center's first Postmaster.

About 1840 the Center laid out a park. A half-acre was given by each of four men who owned the land at the Center. These civic minded men were George Lillie, Hezekiah Palmer, Lucien Bliss, and Colonel Milton Arthur. This was the first step.

Since no formal planning of land had been done, it wasn't too easy to determine boundaries. Up to now settlers had built their cabins just anywhere that was convenient.

About 1836 Hosea Bliss, a brother of Ambrose, came to be the first resident physician. He practiced well into the 1870's. Doctor Hazelton followed Dr. Bliss and had a good practice.

In 1820 to 1821 Wallace built a woolen mill for "carding" and cloth "dressing." In the next year and for many years thereafter the whole process of carding, spinning, weaving, and dressing was conducted on an extensive scale and was a very profitable business.

At one time the factory, the grist mill, the store, the saw mill, and the distillery were all in operation and required from twelve to twenty employees. The extent and importance of these industries in the back woods, can plainly be seen.

George Wallace succeeded in getting a Post Office established in Brandywine and was also appointed Postmaster.

James Wallace, son of George, ran the store when he was fifteen years old. He had come from Cleveland with the teamster who had brought the wares. As night was fast coming on when they reached the northern part of the township, he decided to hurry on ahead and reach home before the teamster. As he was walking and closely watching the obscure markings of the road, he was startled by a large deer bounding across the path a few yards ahead of him. Almost at the same time, he heard a loud crashing in the bushes and a large dark animal appeared. He was terrified when he saw the animal was a large bear, but he was determined not to run. The bear without much hesitation and paying no attention to the boy continued in pursuit of the deer. James was so frightened that when, after running a long distance, he came to a cabin, he asked some of the boys to go with him until he reached the village.

In 1825 George Wallace turned hs portion of all his properties over to his son James, and in 1826 another son, Robert secured interests and the business firm was then known as the Wallace Brothers.

In 1843 a flood swept away the factory, scattering debris along the banks of the creek for many miles. The flood also badly damaged the grist mill but this was immediately repaired. The factory was never rebuilt.

Twelve families lived in Brandywine at the height of its success. The firm of Wallace and Wallace opened a store in

CHEESEMAKING AND INDUSTRY

Cheese-making, an art long gone from Olde Northfield Township, was once one of its chief industries. In the days of the Northfield settler, the cheese was made by the housewife in her farm kitchen. The milk was heated on the stove to just below the boiling point. The curds were then separated from the whey and worked by hand. They were then salted and placed in containers where the ripening process took place.

By 1840 when Summit County was formed, small cheese factories appeared on all the country roads. The Northfield section was part of what was called "Yankee Cheesedom."

In 1851, the Pennsylvania Railroad was built through Macedonia. The cheese business increased enormously, as the farmers now had a good outlet for their product. It is said that in one season alone 60,000 pounds of cheese were shipped from the Macedonia Depot.

Small cheese factories gradually combined to form larger ones. Some of these were the Lyons, the Patron, the Spring Grove, the Richey, and the Straight factories. An 1874 Atlas of Summit County shows the Lyons Cheese Factory in the center of Northfield. Smoke pours out of the chimney of the small building at the left, indicating that here the milk was heated. At the right, a larger building next to it has the sign "Lyons Cheese Factory" printed on the front door. Fanciful pictures of farmers with their horse-drawn wagons, taking their milk to the factory, are shown in front of the buildings.

The Straight Factory in Macedonia, known as the Townline Factory, stood at the northeast corner of Shepard Road and Route 82. It was one of thirteen Straight factories in this area with headquarters in Hudson. It was last operated by John Leuenberger, a native of Switzerland, who came to the United States in 1872. He had learned the art of making cheese in Switzerland and was probably one of the best qualified men in the business in Ohio.

From his daughter, Rose Leuenberger Riehl, come this description of the way he made his cheese:

> There was a platform in front of the building where the farmers left their cans of milk. At the entrance, two steel hooks grasped the handles of the cans, and a crane carried them to a vat where they were emptied. There, the milk was heated to just below the boiling point and rennet was added to it. After the curds had formed, the mixture was stirred, and at the proper moment the whey was drained off and the curds were placed on a long drain table where they were worked to prevent them from clinging together too much.
> The cheese mixture was then placed in round metal frames over which a cheesecloth casing was stretched: these frames were placed under adjustable weights which pressed the moisture out. Then, the cheeses were placed in a curing room where they were left to ripen until salable.

Around 1895, the Straight Company broke up, and the Townline Factory was purchased by A. T. Brooks who owned and operated a grocery and dry goods store in Macedonia.

The cheese factory was moved to a new location near the railroad station on Little York Road. Brooks incorporated the Brooks Creamery Company in 1896. Members of the corporation were A. T. Brooks, L. R. Foster, B. A. Robinette, P. E. Leach, Walter Beaney, H. J. Reed, H. H. Wallace, O. E. Griswold, C. B. Tryon, and J. B. Carter. These men were, for the most part, farmers with large dairy herds in Macedonia and Northfield.

John Leuenberger was asked to work at the Brooks Creamery Company. The Company did a big business shipping butter and cheese to Cleveland for distribution until 1900 when the factory burned down.

Rose Riehl recalls the excitement in town the night the cheese factory burned.

> The crew from a passing train blew the whistle and awakened the whole town. Soon there was a crowd of helpers, but most of the factory burned down. I can smell that cheese yet. What they saved, Pa had put in our kitchen and dining room.

George Ashmun was indeed a physician practicing here in Hudson. Dr. George Pierce, however, was not a medical doctor but rather the President of Western Reserve College, an academic doctor.

Everyone depends on you. You can depend on us.

Grandpa went back to Indiana several times, starting in the 1880's. He must have met the Myers, and any Appletons that were around as well. He surely heard stories about his g grandmother (Hannah), and perhaps even knew which of her kids were Thomas's.

A great resource was lost, because I didn't have the presence of mind to ask him any questions.

Caldwell Messenger, March 19, 1963

CALDWELL'S BELOVED HISTORIAN DIES

Final tribute was paid John F. Ryland, 87, Caldwell's oldest native born citizen, Monday afternoon at two o'clock in Schaeffer's Chapel. Mr. Ryland, considered Caldwell's authority on local history, died quietly at the home of his son, Verne F. Ryland and daughter-in-law, Mary Lou. Mr. Ryland had been in failing health for several months, had been hospitalized locally at times, and for several weeks had been cared for at his son's home.

Mr. Ryland was visiting with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Ethel Blair, when death came. Other visitors during the day had been his pastor, Rev. Sanders B. Clayton, and his friend, Chief of Police Max Scribner. Mr. Ryland just recently had retired as Police Judge after having served some 22 years.

Rev. Clayton, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated at the services. Mrs. Edwin Garver and Mrs. Richard Johnson provided the vocal music, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Burns, organist.

Interment was in the family plot at the Caldwell City Cemetery. Masonic Honors were conducted by Sumner Lodge No. 203, AF&AF, with Sidney Earnheart as Worshipful Master and Lewis Wickery as Master of Ceremonies. Bearers were law officers from Wellington, friends Mr. Ryland made during his service as Police Judge. They included: James Thornton, highway patrolman; John Patterson, Sumner County Sheriff; Gerry Wiley, Bert White, Lee Stoner and Neal Frazee, from the sheriff's department.

Mr. Ryland was born December 6, 1875, on Bluff Creek near Caldwell in "a house dug in the bank and built up above, a structure 20 by 40 feet, divided into two rooms," as Mr. Ryland had described the dwelling in an interview with the Messenger staff for a story of his life that appeared in the Messenger Centennial Edition on May 8, 1961.

Mr. Ryland's parents were James A. and Hattie Blair Ryland, and his grandfather was Enos Blair, early pioneers of Caldwell. Mr. Ryland's mother died when he was three months of age, leaving also a son Walter. Mr. Ryland was reared by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cashatt, another pioneer family.

At the age of 19, Mr. Ryland went to Great Bend where he attended Central College for awhile. At 21 he went to Kansas City, Mo., where he learned the barber trade, then to Detroit for further training and to be near his brother Walter. He returned to Caldwell to stay with his foster parents, the Cashatts, and when they moved to town in 1898, he moved with them and started in as an apprentice at a barber shop here.

On Christmas Day, he was united in marriage to Novella Crosslin. In 1902 they moved to St. Louis where he worked in a barber shop. They returned to Caldwell in 1908 and bought the building, now occupied by Millie's Cafe, and put in a barber shop he named the St. Louis Barber Shop. He later bought the adjoining building and moved his shop there where it is now run by Arnold Hesser and still carries the St. Louis name.

The Rylands' only son, Verne F. Ryland, was born in 1915, and for several years he and his wife Mary Lou and children have resided in Caldwell. At present, their daughter, Miss Sandra Ryland, a teacher, resides in Newport Beach, California; their son, John Francis Ryland, II, is a graduate student in the University at Panama City, Panama; and Kenny Ryland is a freshman at the University of Mississippi Oxford. John who had spent the summer in Caldwell before going to Panama, could not return for the services. Miss Ryland, who recently had undergone oral surgery, and Kenny who pitched his first college baseball game Saturday, did not return. They had spent Christmas with their parents and grandfather.

Mr. Ryland saw a great deal of history in the making while he was a young man in Caldwell. When he was 17 he made the run at the opening of the Cherokee Strip, on September 13, 1893. He was not old enough to stake the claim, but later traded it off for a shotgun.

In sharing history with his friends, he could tell about buffalo, prairie fires, the Talbott raid, the George Spears killing, an Indian scare, the Run, and many other exciting tales. It was his father who wrote the copy as told by George Freeman in the book, "Midnight and Noonday," now a rare collectors' item.

Mr. Ryland served in several civic capacities during his lifetime. He served as a street commissioner and was a member of the group when the city building was constructed. He served over 22 years as Police Judge and as a justice of peace since 1914, until his retirement recently. He was a past president of Lions club and helped on many of their early fund raising campaigns. He was a member of Sumner Lodge No. 203, AF&AM and was honored as a fifty year member. He was a member of Midian Shrine, Wichita, and the Scottish Rite Bodies, Wichita.

Mr. Ryland enjoyed good health until recent months and his time was spent in his flower garden, reading and visiting with friends. His "guide to live by" was a little poem:

Let me grow lovely, growing old.
There are so many fine things to do—
Laces and ivory and gold and silks
Need not be new.
There is healing in old trees.
Old streets, they glamour hold.
Why not I, as well as these
Grow lovely, growing old."

And his many friends agree that Mr. Ryland accomplished his goal.

JOHN F. RYLAND IS OLDEST NATIVE BORN CALDWELL RESIDENT, RECALLS STRIP OPENING, OTHER EARLY EVENTS

By Millicent C. Stiles

"I guess I am the oldest native born Caldwell citizen still living," John F. Ryland declared when he sat down in the Messenger office to answer our request to tell us something about his life in early day Caldwell.

Mr. Ryland, who was born on December 6, 1875, defies his years by remaining mentally and physically alert, and persons seeking historical notes about Caldwell always feel that he indeed is an authority, having spent many of his years in this Border Queen town.

When he gave his birth year as 1875 he added as the old poem says, "hardly a man is now alive who remembers that famous day and year (Paul Revere's Ride)." He said that he was born on Bluff Creek in a house dug in the bank and built up above a structure 20 by 40 feet divided into two rooms. "My grandfather Enos Blair, one of the early settlers of Caldwell, brought windows for the house from Wichita," he added. His parents were James A. and Hattie Blair Ryland. That winter wanting finer things for their young sons, Walter who was born in June 1874 and the baby John, Mr. Ryland cut logs from the river banks and built a better house on the Cosad place about seven miles southeast of Caldwell.

But that winter was destined to be a sad one for the family as Mrs. Ryland, who had not been strong since the baby's birth, became desperately ill with "intestinal infection." The family sent for a physician from Wichita, but he arrived too late. And at the age of three months, John F. Ryland was left motherless, and James A. Ryland had two young sons to look after.

Mr. Ryland decided to place his boys in homes in the community, and as John F. said, "I was farmed around several places". A neighbor, he thought her name was Mrs. Craeger, had a small baby, and she kept John for awhile. Then a Mr. and Mrs. Smith who lived near Corbin south of the river, kept him awile. His father kept looking around for someone to keep him on a more permanent basis. "Frank and Hattie Wishard, they were the son and daughter of Mrs. Andrew Cashatt, and Hattie who later became Mrs. Spence Glover, wanted to take me after the Smiths couldn't keep me any longer," Mr. Ryland said. "I was about nine months old then, and I guess it was my lucky day, for I remained with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cashatt until I was 19," he added.

His father was busy during the years teaching school at Afton, Wellington, the Cashatt School and Falls Center. Schools then had only four month terms, but Mr. Ryland also had his farming interests.

"When I was 19, father took me from the Cashatts and offered me a college education, if the Cashatts would release me. He sent me to Great Bend where I enrolled at the Central College, and I attended school for 16 weeks, working at odd jobs to pay my way. Father wrote and said he couldn't send me any more money (he wanted a farm hand) and he asked me to come home and help with the farm work. So, that was the last of my college education," Mr. Ryland said ruefully.

He said his father in the meantime had re-married, this time a girl, Louise Hall who was 20 years his junior. They later had a son, Byrd.

"When I was 21, I left home (as soon as I could) and went to Kansas City, Mo., to learn the barber trade. From there I went to Detroit, to continue learning the trade. My brother, Walter, who also had been reared in various homes, was living in Detroit and I wanted to be near him," he explained. "My brother was in the Ninth Infantry during the Spanish American War, and saw action in Cuba, the Philippines, China (the Boxer Rebellion). I still have some very interesting letters he wrote to me while he was in Peking," he added.

Mr. Ryland said while in Detroit he worked as a bellhop in the Cadillac Hotel, then he was an usher in a theatre, all of the time trying to make a living and study his trade. "I used to deliver the Detroit Free Press to news stands in the hotels. While delivering papers, there was a young man with whom I had close contact, a police reporter for the Detroit Free Press. Later on I found out that he was the poet, Edgar A. Guest. It has been reported that later he wrote his own salary check, when he became famous. The Free Press had his poetry copyrighted." Mr. Ryland recalled.

He also delivered papers to the Dodge Brother Machine Shop, as it was called in those days. That small shop on Brush street later became famous.

"I decided to return to Caldwell, and I stayed with my foster parents, the Cashatts again. They moved to town in 1898, and I moved in with them and started to finish up my barber trade," Mr. Ryland stated. As an apprentice, he said he made from eight to ten dollars a week. He worked for two years, then acquired his own shop. He made payments on it, buying it from Mr. June Smith. It was located in the McClain building, now the Corzine building where Mrs. Clara Corzine has her pottery shop. He said there was a saloon in the back, operated by a man named Casey. There also was a pool hall in the building.

"I finished learning my trade on railroad men who came to Caldwell," he recalled. "I got so I could talk their language, too," he added. "Billy Bosser was train master for the Rock Island here at the time, and he asked me one day, while I was working on him, how much I was making in the shop. I told him six or eight or so a week (I also was porter carried water from the well, and put it on a coal oil heater). 'How would you like a job braking?' he asked me. I told him I hadn't thought about it. He told me I could make from $50 to $60 a month if I got on a regular job. Well, that sounded pretty good, but what scared me out was that a fellow who stayed in the Puckett Hotel (in the rooms above the corner building) had had his foot crushed while kicking brakes loose, and another had his fingers mashed reaching in raising a pin. "Well, after I thought it over, the money didn't seem so great after all, and I decided I didn't want a job braking. I was pretty young then," Mr. Ryland reminisced.

He said he kept on with his barbering until he married Novella Crosslin on Christmas Day, 1900. His wife was a sister of Mrs. Ethel Blair who lives in Caldwell. In 1902 he and his wife moved to St. Louis where he worked in a barber shop and part of the time owned one. During the World Fair he saw a lot of the wonders there. He recalled hearing Sousa's band, and he saw Will Rogers who was with Mulhall's Wild West Show on the Pike. Several years later he said he saw Rogers again and talked to him at Ponca City, Okla., at a Cherokee Cattlemen's Association meeting.

"I had saved a little money ($500, quite a bit in those days) so we moved back to Caldwell in 1908. I bought the building where the Hideway Cafe now is, on the east side of Main street, and I payed W. S. Jones the $500 as a down payment. I named my shop the St. Louis Barber Shop, and though I have had to retire from active business, the shop, now run by Arnold Hesser, still is known by that name. I later bought the adjoining building and moved my shop in there, where it now is," Mr. Ryland said.

The Ryland's only son, Verne F. Ryland was born in 1915, and he and his wife, Mary Lou, and three children call Caldwell "home." Sandra, the eldest, is completing her first year of teaching in California; John Francis Ryland, II, is a senior at Kansas University; Ken is a junior in Caldwell high school. Verne has the Ryland Sign and Photography shop, and Mary Lou has the Chat 'N Curl Beauty Salon.

After giving much of the above information in answer to our questions, Mr. Ryland then said, "Now, I want to tell you about some of the people I have known and some of the things I have seen in and around Caldwell. When I was a boy, my uncle, John A. Blair, was a cowman, Dease Sanitarium. I still have some very interesting letters he wrote to me while he was in Canada," he added.

Mr. Ryland said while in Detroit he worked as a bellhop in the Cadillac Hotel, then he was an usher in a theatre, all of the time trying to make a living and study his trade. "I used to deliver the Detroit Free Press to news stands in the hotels. While delivering papers there was a young man with whom I had some contact, a police reporter for the Detroit Free Press. Later on I found out that he was the poet, Edgar A. Guest. It has been reported that later he wrote his own salary check, when he became famous. After giving much of the above information in answer to my questions, Mr. Ryland then said, "Now, I want to tell you about some of the people I have known and some of the things I have seen in and around Caldwell. When I was a boy my [illegible] Mr. [illegible] and that is how I came to know men like Andy Adams. Pawnee Bill (Gordan W. Lilly), and Charley Siringo. Siringo ran a confectionery here after he quit the range, then he was connected with the Rocky Mountain Detective force. I remember seeing David Payne of Boomer fame, but I was a boy then and men like he was didn't pay much attention to boys, just men who had six shooters on them. I never carried a gun. I had one, but the folks wouldn't let me carry it. I had all of the cowboy fixings, a good pony, spurs, a lariat, a slicker . . . but no gun. I was about 12 or 13 then.

"When I was 17 I made the run at the opening of the Cherokee Strip on September 13, 1893. I wasn't old enough to stake a claim, but I met up with a fellow from Missouri and as I knew the territory pretty good, he wanted me to ride with him. We met and rode on horseback to across Bluff Creek (17 miles) to the southwest of the old LX ranch. I had herded cattle and I knew where some of the cornerstones were surveyed in 1879. Bluff Creek south of Caldwell is in Kansas and it varies down to southeast and is part in Oklahoma. I staked a claim, then traded it off for a shot gun which I used for several years to shoot quail and rabbits.

"The opening of the strip was a sight to behold and one never to be forgotten. At high noon on the 16th of September at the crack of the soldier's gun, the whole earth seemed to move forward, and it was several minutes before this sensation seemed to subside. Several vivid descriptions of that race have been given in story and screen by writers of that bit of history along the border, but none gives so great a thrill as that of having seen it.

"I remember a fellow by the name of Keller who lived northeast of here a few miles, in a sod house. He drove a team of oxen and he wore a coonskin cap. He always came to town to buy beans, dried apples, side meat, etc. He had a bunch of cattle and he had three buffalo that had taken up with the cattle and they ran with them on the bluestem and bunchgrass. He had built corrals and he put the buffalo in at night along with the cattle. He watered all of them, but didn't feed them, they had to live on grass. Later someone killed the buffalo.

"One day I remember my foster mother called to me, 'Johnny (she always called me that) come out here,' and there was a buffalo and her calf going along about one-quarter mile from the house. I can remember that so plainly.

"Prairie fires were dreaded in those days. The bluestem would get as high as a horse's back and when it was dry it would really burn. The men and boys would fight it and plow furrows to try to stop it. It was very dangerous, and it didn't help the cattle any either.

"I was in Caldwell on December 17, 1881, when they had the Talbott raid; I was in Carr's blacksmith shop, located where the post office now is. I heard the shots, but I didn't get out to see what it was all about. The shooting started at the corner of West Central and Main, where the Detrick store is now. I wasn't very old then, but I can remember the shooting.

"When George Spears was killed that day, they caught him in the alley east of Main street just south of where the Messenger is now located. I think he was accidently killed, as I think they had planned to get Mike Meager, whom they did kill that day. George Freeman has a good story about it in his book, Midnight and Noonday.

"I heard George Fletcher say once, 'Freeman's book is a pretty good and true story; but he tried to make himself out a brave man, but he was the biggest coward in town.'

"Freeman used to come to my dad's place in 1889 and 1890, and I recall how he would tell father the story and father (who was well educated for a man in those days) would write it down and that is the way the book appears. Freeman furnished the material, father wrote it, but received no credit for it.

"I remember an Indian scare we had one day about 1882. A fellow came to our log house. I was in the upstairs attic where we slept. The fellow hollered in and that is why I came to know very rich men, Adams, Fearrow and Gordon W. Lillie, and Chester Harmon. Gordon ran a [illegible] here after he quit the prairie, then he was connected with the Rocky Mountain Detective Agency. I remember seeing Cherry Tree of Dennis fame, but I was a boy then and men like he didn't pay much attention to boys, just men with the six-shooters on them. I never carried a gun. I had one but the folks wouldn't let me carry it. I ran all of the [illegible]. I had a good pony, boots, a lariat, a slicker . . . but no gun. I was about 15 or 16 then.

"When I was 17 I made the run at the opening of the Cherokee Strip on September 16, 1893. I wasn't old enough to stake a claim, but I met up with a fellow from Missouri and as I knew the territory pretty good, he wanted me to ride with him. We met and rode on horseback to across Bluff Creek [illegible] to the southwest of the old [illegible] ranch. I had herded cattle and I knew where some of the corner stones were surveyed in 1874. Bluff Creek south of Caldwell is in Kansas and it varies down to Medford and is next to [illegible] bend. I staked a claim, then traded it off for a good gun which I used for several years to shoot quail and rabbits.

"The opening of the strip was a sight to behold and one never to be forgotten. At high noon on the 16th of September at the crack of the soldier's gun, the whole earth seemed to move forward, and it was several minutes before this sensation seemed to subside. Several vivid descriptions of that race have been given in story and screen by writers of that bit of history along the border, but none gives so great a thrill as that of having seen it.

"I remember a fellow by the name of [illegible] who lived northwest of here a few miles in a sod house. He drove a team of oxen and he wore a moccasin cap. He always came to town to get beans, dried apples, and meat, etc. He had a bunch of cattle and he had three buffalo that had taken up with the cattle and they ran with them on the Bluestem land [illegible]. He had both cowboys and he put the buffalo in a sack, along with the cattle. He skinned all of them, but couldn't feed them, they had to live on grass. Later someone stole the buffalo.

"One day I remember my mother called to me, 'Johnny [illegible] come out here' and there was a buffalo [illegible] about one-quarter mile from the house. I can remember that so plainly.

the window in the west. 'Get out of here. The Indians are coming. Get your family and go to Wellington.' Mr. Cashatt and his stepson Frank loaded all of the family and supplies in a wagon and we hurried off to Wellington where many others had gathered. Next morning when I awakened and looked out from the cover of the wagon sheet there was a fellow calmly milking a cow. It was a false alarm. The Indians didn't do any damage.

"I remember my first train ride was from Falls station to Geuda Springs on the east and west line of the Frisco when I was about 12 years old. Boy, I thought that was something. I had watched the workmen work on the track laying the rails. I recall when I saw the first Santa Fe train, the depot then was away down southeast, not far from Bluff Creek.

"In 1902 the Caldwell high school didn't have a library and the school had no funds for books. I gathered some of the students and directed a play, and the proceeds went to the book fund. Florence Luder Cromwell (who now lives in a private nursing home in Wellington) was in the cast. It was a success and books were purchased for a school library.

"I was operating the Opera House at that time, and in 1918 I booked a traveling show, a boy named Charlie Haley who had trained dogs he put in his show. In February that year the Opera House burned, and many of his dogs were destroyed.

"I am a past president of the Caldwell Lions club, and on two different occasions I wrote script and directed minstrel shows. One, of which I have a picture, featured Max Showalter, dressed as a woman. Max is now Casey Adams of moving picture and television fame. He has written music for a stage show that is to be produced soon and is said by everyone to be destined for a long run on Broadway. Max' mother, the late Mrs. Ira Showalter, played the piano (as no one else could) for the minstrel. Everyone said it was a big hit."

Mr. Ryland has several mementos of the past among his souvenirs.

He has a box of early day pictures of Caldwell people and places, from which he has generously loaned several to the Messenger to use in the special Kansas Centennial edition.

He has a beautiful gold headed cane which belonged to his uncle, Frank Ryland which had been given to Frank by his wife Mary in 1880. Mr. Ryland recalled that they lived in Findley, Ohio, and his uncle sold tombstones. "He would go to a funeral, mourn with the family, then go to them and sell them a marker. Boy he was tricky! He and father never got along too well," he sighed.

Mr. Ryland has a silver pitcher which he treasures highly because it belonged to his mother when she lived in Plainfield, Ind. He still has a silver mug from which he drank milk when he was five years old. His son Verne later used it.

Mr. Ryland's father died in 1933 in Colorado Springs, and he went out there and brought the body to Caldwell for burial. John Ryland's wife died in the late 1930's.

Mr. Ryland has served in several civic capacities during the years. He served as a street commissioner and was a member of the group when the new city building was constructed. He has served for 20 years as a police judge, and has been a justice of peace since 1914. He officiates at weddings and hears civil cases, and enjoys meeting the people who come to his office in his home at 507 South Market.

"If I didn't read a lot, and kid with people, and scratch around in my flower garden, I couldn't make it," Mr. Ryland declared. He has enjoyed exceptionally good health for one his age, and until a few months ago when he tangled with a "modern" convenience, the cord on his electric sweeper (which sent him to the hospital for a few days) he was pretty chipper. Now, he admits he has to take things a little slower.

"Yes, I guess I am the oldest native born Caldwell citizen still alive," Mr. Ryland declared as he was ready to leave. "I want to quote you a little poem that I have tried to live by:

Let me grow lovely, growing old.
There are so many fine things to do—
Laces and ivory and gold and silks
Need not be new.
There is a healing in old trees.
Old streets, they glamour hold.
Why not I, as well as these,
Grow lovely, growing old."

JOHN F. RYLAND WRITES BRIEFS ABOUT EARLY DAY RESIDENTS

John F. Ryland, who serves Caldwell as Justice of the Peace, Police Judge and a Notary Public, is one of its most reliable historians. The Messenger asked this long-time resident to write something for the Border Queen special edition, and Mr. Ryland consented to recount brief facts about some of the Caldwell pioneers he had known, including his grandfaher, Enos Blair, his father James A. Ryland, and his foster father, Andrew Cashatt. Mr. Ryland's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Verne F. Ryland, and his three grandchildren, John Francis Ryland, II, Sandra and Kenny Ryland, reside in Caldwell, continuing the Ryland name which was one of the first in Caldwell in 1871-72.

His "Men I Have Known" briefs follow:

Enos Blair

My Grandfather, Enos Blair came to Caldwell in 1872 and of course all early settlers went into cattle business, and as such it was very new to him as he came from Indiana, and in cattle business he was not very successful. Later in 1882 he started a newspaper called the "Free Press." At that time the town was under the control of saloons, gambling houses and houses of ill fame. Also, about that time the Murray Law was passed prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Grandfather fought those interests through his newspaper, which the controling interests did not like and made it very dangerous for him. So they damaged his printing press, burned his house, and made him leave town. When he went at night he walked in the middle of the street. One time I asked him why he did it, and he said, "Well when they shoot at me they might miss, but if I walked close to buildings I would be easier to hit."

His house was burned by Frank Noyes, but I conclude that some one besides Noyes was the mastermind. Sentiment by the law abiding element began to get so strong that someone had to be hung, so Frank Noyes was the goat.

Grandfather lived to be over 87 years of age.

James A. Ryland

James A. Ryland, my father, was born in Ohio, and went to Indiana when a small child. He later taught school in Niles, Michigan, and Albian, Ind. He came to Kansas in April, 1871. He met A. M. Colson in Atchison, Kansas, and they came to Southern Kansas together. They met George W. Freeman on the way. Mr. Freeman later authored the book about Caldwell, "Midnight and Noonday."

My father settled on a claim northeast of Caldwell on the Chikaskia river. He taught school in Wellington, Alton and the Coshatt school. He lived on the farm until 1916, then moved to Caldwell. He spent his last years in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Andrew Cashatt

Andrew Cashatt came to Kansas in 1872. He built a log cabin to live in for several years. He then was able to build a nice home and helped built the school which bore his name. He was a carpenter by trade, and was respected by all who knew him. He made trips to Wichita and hauled lumber and provisions to Caldwell. He was considered one of our best pioneers.

John A. Blair

John A. Blair came to Caldwell in 1872. He clerked in the Cox and Epperson store, and later bought the store. He was in cattle business and had a ranch in the Cherokee Strip where Jefferson, Okla., is now located. He was secretary of the Cherokee Strip Live Stock Association, also a director of the Stock Exchange Bank.

Marion Blair

Marion Blair came to Caldwell in 1872 and was associated with the cattle business known as Blair, Batton and Cooper. During the severe winter of 1886 they lost most of their herd and the partnership was dissolved. Blair opened the Southwestern Hotel in 1888, the building which is now used for the Caldwell General Hospital. Later he went to Kingfisher, Okla.

Milt Bennett came to Caldwell in 1872. The cattleman had a ranch southwest of Caldwell, closed out when the Strip opened in 1893. He was treasurer of the Cherokee Strip Live Stock association.

son, father of Mrs. [illegible] Sr. came to Caldwell in April 1871. He had been in Kansas since May, 1870 in Atchison, Kansas. He met my father, James A. Ryland, and they both had the same idea of coming southward near the southern border of Kansas. So they became friends. Both very young men, they outfitted themselves with ponies, some grub and started out southward, finally reaching the Chikaskia River, where they made some shelter.

They formed a verbal agreement to go into the cattle business. They bought sore-footed cattle for a small sum, let them rest up, and it didn't take long to have a fair herd. A few years later they dissolved partnership, Mr. Colson taking the cattle, fa-

He took an active part in civic affairs, and was elected mayor in 1882 and served for two years. Again in 1901 he was chosen mayor and served until 1903. When the Strip opened all cattlemen had to get rid of cattle.

Tom Murphy

Tom Murphy came in 1872 to settle on a claim south of Corbin, Kansas. The family has lived on the ranch ever since. Tom was in the Civil War, and after the war was over he joined the Army as a Scout. He was with Custer in his actviities in the southwest. He was later transferred to Colonel Forsythe's outfit and was in the Battle of Rickarree on Beecher Island where they stood off about 300 Indians for 18 days until help came.

J. M. Thomas

J. M. Thomas came to Caldwell in 1871 and was interested in city affairs. He was Justice of the Peace, and did some real estate and insurance business.

Ballard Dixon

Ballard Dixon came to Caldwell in 1871 and took a claim north of Caldwell. He was always a farmer, lived alone and never married. He had no near relatives as far as anyone knew.

"The Old Appleton Homestead" New Jersey

Transcription of just over three typewritten, photocopied pages, received from my grandparents, Philip Dunn Fagans, Jr. and Helen Sue Bruckner. I believe Joseph H. West's father married Josiah Appleton's widow, Mary Reed, but this needs to be confirmed. I think also that Joseph H. West had a daughter, Helen, who was a historian and genealogist. West and my great-great-great grandfather, John Appleton, are written of in Chapter One of Henry Charlton Beck's The Jersey Midlands. Both resided in Hamilton Square, New Jersey, which was formerly known as "Nottingham Square" which is also the title of the chapter in which they appear. Transcriber's added notes in square brackets with initials. Spelling variations of the original are preserved, while some punctuation (missing commas) has been added to improve clarity.

The Old Appelton Homestead
Joseph H. West, March 30, 1902
Half a mile east of Mercerville, [New Jersey. RD] up a long lane south of the road, stands an old farm house. This is the homestead of the once numerous Appelton family, whose descendants number thousands, although strange to say, a very few here bear the family name. Tradition says that part of the east end of this house may have been the original habitation of the first Appelton who located here. It was at first but one story high, but was made two stories high in the first half of the last century. The west end was built in 1772, bearing that date in small figures on the breastwork of the chimney. About the year 1852, after the death of Josiah Appleton, one of the third generation from the original settler, the farm passed out of the family that had tilled it for about 125 years. Some of his family went west, and of the sons, Benjamin by name, refused to come or send for his portion of his father's estate, and the administrator held it for nearly fifty years, and on learning of his death a few years ago, he sent the money to the executor of his estate in Indiana.
Since 1852 the old farm has had many owners and has been sold by the sheriff several times. Its present owner is B. F. Hulse.
The farms of Albert Hooper, George Morris, William Cady and John Vanness were once part of the Appleton tract and on them once lived branches of the family, but they passed into other hands long before that part which retained the homestead house.

Cornelius Appleton, born about 1701, died 1779, was the founder of his line of Appletons. His wife was Mary Cox, who was born in 1697, died 1784. They were married November 10, 1726 and soon settled on this farm. They attended the First Presbyterian Church at Trenton and were buried at Trenton, doubtless in the old graveyard of this church. In one of the family bibles, among the record of births, is the statement that Cornelius Appleton came from Germany and settled on this farm. This statement is signed and sealed by his son, Joseph, and I suppose we will have to believe it; but those who study the origin of surnames and classify them will have doubts about it, for Appleton does not appear to be a German name, and Joseph may have been misinformed.
The children of Cornelius and Mary Appleton were Joseph, Richard and Josiah. Joseph was born in 1727 - Richard in 1728, and Josiah in 1735. There may have been others of whom we have no account.
Richard Appleton married Martha Ford in 1756 and their children were John, William, Richard, Abel, James, Thomas, Cornelius, Daniel, Hannah, Phebe, Margaret and Judith.
Josiah Appleton, the third [known RD] son of Cornelius, was three times married; his first wife was Rebekah Gilbert, the second Elizabeth Rogers, and lastly, Mary Reed. One of his daughters, late in life, married Captain Alexander Douglas, at whose house in Trenton the council of war had been held the night before the Battle of Princeton. His son, Josiah Appleton, born 1788, married Anna Yard, daughter of George Yard and granddaughter of Benjamin Yard of Trenton. At his death in 1852 the old homestead passed out of the family. Doubtless many persons in the county who are descended from these early settlers can now tract [sic RD] their family lines back to them by means of these early records.
The public road used to run on the south side of the Appleton homestead, and a cooperage was located there. [Other sources give the first Cornelius' occupation as cooper. RD] Just before the war of the Revolution, a boy named John Clutch came there to learn the cooper's trade. He was born May 3, 1758, not far from this place. His father died when he was young, and in 1769 his mother, Sarah Clutch, married Robert Hutchinson, of a branch of the numerous family of that name, and his descendants by this marriage are more numerous than by his former marriage. In May 1776, Captain John Quicksill of this township raised a company of troops, and young Clutch, being just 18 years old, enlisted under his standard and was sent to Little Egg Harbor and afterwards to Perth Amboy. After New York City and Staten Island were occupied by the British, their foraging and plundering incursions became so frequent that the militia companies were divided into classes for alternate duty in the forts to guard the ferries between the hostile parties, to prevent the Tories and others from trading with the enemy, to capture active tories and be ready to turn out an alarm and other emergencies. Just before the battle of Trenton, John Clutch served under Captain Robert Quigley and later under Captain George Anderson, both of this township, being on duty in Pennsylvania and at Elizabethtown and Princeton. Later he served under Captain Quigley at Bordertown, Burlington and Haddonfield. He 1778 he gought [sic RD] at Monmouth under Captain Quigley, and in 1780 he served under Captain Lanston Carlisle of Trenton, being on duty at Springfield and Steel Gap. Later, he served again under Captain George Anderson at Middlebush and Middlebrook in Somerset County.
This faithful soldier was one of the comparatively few of the Revolutionary soldiers who lived long enough to draw a government pension. It was not until 1832 that the general government provided for such, and he applied for and received it. After the war, John Clutch married and lived about forty years at Allentown, then in west Windsor Township, then back to his native township he came, and ended his days within a mile of where he was born ninety-one years before. He died at the residence of his son-in-law, William C. Sinclair, on the farm adjoining the Appleton homestead, where he was sent to learn the cooper's trade seventy-five years before. Being feeble for some time before his death, he was waited upon by his grandson, Joseph C. Sinclair, now of Princeton, who loves to speak of grandfather Clutch, the Revolutionary soldier, and is proud of the fact that he nursed him during his last illness.

I am inclined to think that John Clutch was the last survivor of the War of the Revolution in this country. He died in 1849 and was buried at Allentown by the side of his wife. I cannot recall mention of one living to a later date, but prehaps [sic RD] some older person may know of others. The descendants of John Clutch are numerous in this county, as are also the descendants of his half brothers, Sylvanus and Robert Hutchinson and others, but no doubt many of the younger ones on reading this sketch will have heard of him for the first time.

If the hereditary societies, such as the Sons of the American revolution, would show more zeal, they would have many thousands instead of a few hundred members, and it would seem that all the hereditary societies make a mistake in limiting their membership to the descendants of the soldier himself, when so many got killed and left no descendants, and can never be represented in the organization gotten up to perpetuate their memory. Why not include all of the descendants of a father or a mother who sent a son to die, if necessary, for the country?

 The old Appleton homestead was torn down when the new highway was built, known as Route 33 between Mercerville and Robbinsville, about 15 years ago. [It is not clear whether this footnote was written in 1902 or added at a later date. RD]

End of transcription.

Delawa Hist D-2

tive expedition seized two British naval officers, eleven marines, and seventy Tories at Jordan's Island. Duck Creek was the center of activity for residents from lower New Castle County. Caesar Rodney in May, 1778, regretfully noted at Dover, "We are Constantly Alarmed in this Place by the Enemy and Refugees and Seldom a day passes but Some man in this and the Neighbouring Counties is taken off by these Villians, so that many, near the Bay, Who I know to be hearty in the Cause, dare neither Act nor Speak least they Should be taken away and their Houses plundered—" He concluded this letter by adding that he had just heard of the seizure of ten residents near Port Penn, who were carried on board the enemy's vessels.[16]

That all residents of New Castle County were not sympathetic with the American cause was shown in 1780 by the case of James Johnson of Red Lion Hundred, who was placed under bond of £10,000 for expressions of disloyalty on the written testimony of three witnesses. He was willing to bet one hundred dollars that the British had captured Charleston. "If it was not taken, he wished to God that it soon might [be] then the Americans would be Don and subdued and then we should have good times once more." He also "Damd the Congress and all the Law makers" as well as those who had taken the oath of allegiance, which he would never take.[17]

Occasionally, incidents of great cruelty occurred, when the refugees bore personal grudges against their prisoners. A band of refugees seized Robert Appleton, an unpopular constable of lower New Castle County, in 1783, maltreated his brother, and carried off the former a captive. At Bombay Hook they were joined by one Captain Brooks, and five other pirates, who ordered him to preach a Methodist sermon, they having discovered he was a member of that sect. Upon his refusal Brooks ordered him to be whipped to death for a "damned rebel" with a rope over an inch thick, called a colt.

The refugees, alternately, beat him until he was exhausted, forced him to destroy his official papers, and made him promise that he would never serve the rebels again. He was released at Through-Fare Point on Duck Creek, where the refugees burned the houses at the landing and destroyed twenty cords of wood. A few weeks later when attempting to serve a warrant at Bombay Hook, he was again beaten.[18]

When the news of the American victory at Yorktown arrived, the citizens of the town of New Castle "to manifest their joy erected a flagpole near the state-house, on which were hoisted the American continental colours a little above those of the British." Thirteen platoons of muskets were fired, the town illuminated, and toasts drunk. When the British flag blew down, it was regarded as a happy omen.[19] Gayer festivities took place in the town in April, 1783, when news of the completion of the peace negotiations arrived. Drink and food to the amount of £251 were consumed, for part of which sum a tavern keeper later petitioned the legislature.[20]

The problem of what to do with the returning loyalists soon appeared. Of course the great majority of the small loyalist element in New Castle County had never left. Court records reveal that loyalists, such as Christopher Wilson and William Almond, gave bond and remained in Delaware after the passage of the Act of Free Pardon and Oblivion in June, 1778. Joshua North, John Drake, Theodore Maurice, and James Dawson seemingly remained in England. Jacob Smith of Brandywine Hundred, who enlisted with the British forces in 1777, sailed for Nova Scotia from New York in 1783, but had returned home by 1785.[21] James McKeever, formerly of Wilmington, bought space in a Baltimore newspaper in 1783 to tell the narrative of his imprisonment by the British to counteract the story of his sympathy for the British cause told by a

[From an unidentified Kendallville, Ind., newspaper, July 1902. Probably the Kendallville Standard but possibly the Daily Sun or the Daily News. Thanks to John Ryland of San Francisco for the text.]

James Ryland was born in eastern Ohio March 31, 1820 and died at his home in Allen Township, Noble county, Indiana July 24, 1902, aged 82 years, 3 months and 23 days.

(Hannah)

His father died when he was four years old, leaving his mother in poor circumstances and unable to give him any education, his total schooling consisting of thirty days. He educated himself later sufficiently to read the Bible, which was his only book. He often spoke of his grandmother who taught him when a child to nightly kneel at her side and pray. The descent of his grandmother is unknown, but his grandfather was a German.

He was married at the age of twenty-one to Charlotte Bond (who yet survives) in Portage, now Summit, County, Ohio. Six children were born to this union, five sons and one daughter, of whom four sons survive him. He emigrated to the wilds of Noble County, Indiana in October 1847, and settled and remained on the same farm until his decease.

At the age of eighteen he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, which relationship he never severed. He commenced life with no help but his own energy and industry. He succeeded well, educated his children, left them a legacy of sterling honesty, integrity and honor. His word was always as good as his bond. No one ever heard him profane or falsify.

Among his many prominent characteristics his humaneness was striking. He would never turn anyone away from his home hungry or in need of a resting place. He has been known to entertain strangers overnight and then to remain up all night in order to guard his home from being plundered. If he found a tramp in an outbuilding he would bring him in and entertain him. He would never willingly permit a stranger to depart on Sunday. Were any of his neighbors in need at any time, they would find his best at their service.

Another characteristic was his scrupulousness. He was close in his dealings, but exact and honest. On one occasion a merchant took his word as to the number of bushels in a load of corn, and was surprised later to receive money which a subsequent measurement of his wagon by Mr. Ryland showed to be due. This was the man. His departing leaves the world poorer, but his character abides a true inspiration and blessing.

The funeral was held at Mount Pleasant church on Sunday afternoon, July 26. It was conducted by the Rev. M. M. Magor, of Kendallville M.E. Church, assisted by the Lutheran church choir. The interment was at Mount Pleasant.

[ADDITIONAL: James Ryland was the son of Samuel Ryland, who died 1823 in Belmont County, Ohio, and Hannah Myers Ryland, who died ~~March 1850~~ in Summit County, Ohio.] We now know this to not be true. Your 1856 date is correct.

Subject: Lots of Appletons

Hello Helen—

Where to start! Except—I should mention: I was startled because "Helen Read" is one of our family names on the Appleton side. One of my great aunts was Helen Appleton, who married a Read, and her daughter was Helen Appleton Read—and so on. Mere coincidence though.

This business about Thomas Appleton's possible connection to our John and Joseph Appleton is very interesting, though I share your wish to be cautious. While I've been working on Maryland Appletons, in an attempt to trace John, so far I haven't touched Delaware—silly of me, I now see. All these states' families are bound to be connected. Like you (I think John implied this?), I've been "collecting" Appletons, in the hopes that eventually they would all link up. A few lines, sadly, just won't. The Etherington Appletons do seem to have a distinct line going back to England. If you're interested I'll send you my file on them—most of it came from a member of that family with whom I corresponded for a while. You may recognize other names in his tree, of course, like Christopher Appleton, who started out around Philadelphia and move out west in successive stages.

That your Thomas didn't seem to own any property in PA still makes me wonder whether he could have been connected to that branch, because they weren't farmers. They tended to be doctors, ministers, and engineers, and they moved around PA quite a bit—the same individuals turn up in the census lists of all sorts of PA counties. And they did have a branch living right there in Beaver County, PA—and yet were not related to us. Very frustrating.

The Cornelius Appleton line (originating in New Jersey) also seems to be distinct. And they seem to have been the forebears of several PA Appleton families.

One reason I had been concentrating on Maryland—Baltimore in particular—is that some of the Baltimore Appletons were connected to the Ipswich Appletons, and our family does have a "tradition" that somewhere, way back, we are connected to the Ipswich Appletons. So far I haven't connected our John Appleton to them, but have had an interesting correspondence with another Appleton researcher (John Tallman—do you know of him?) who alerted me to the presence of a group of complexly intermarried New England families (Appleton, Greenleaf, Dawes, Cranch, Elliot) who relocated to Baltimore, but apparently didn't stay longer than a few decades, departing thence to points further west. I thought it couldn't hurt to accumulate information about them—that somehow the jigsaw puzzle would come together eventually. Maybe some of these will connect to your Ohio and Delaware Appletons.

I hope we'll be able to contribute jigsaw pieces to each other's puzzles. One of the genealogists over at the New England Hist. Gen. Soc. Tells me that so far no one has really "done" the Appletons, so we're really breaking new ground, I guess! Let me know which files you might be interested in. I look forward to hearing more!

Subject: Appleton Family

Hello Janet!

Since I do not know exactly what John Ryland told you, I'll start all over.

The Appletons are one of my husband's families. I have known for 40 years that Thomas Appleton was my husband's gr-gr-grandfather. As of today I have proven little else. Until John contacted me, I was unaware of Thomas having two marriages and that his 2nd. wife (Dave's gr-gr-grandmother) had also been previously married.

Thomas had a son David Appleton b. 1825 in OH. He could be either wife's child but I strongly suspect he is the last child of the first wife. By Hannah Myers Ryland, Thomas had at least Rachel, Rebecca and Wesley Appleton. Rebecca is our line.

I have followed Rebecca of course, and have quite a bit on David and Wesley's families. I have not located Rachel after 1850.

The main reason we are interested in the Beaver Co. Appletons is it's proximity to New Bedford, PA where Hannah Myers came from. In the 1820 Ohio Twp. Beaver Co. census is a Thomas and a John Appleton living quite near each other. They are near the same age and Thomas has a couple of young children which would be appropriate for 1820.

Thomas and Hannah had to meet somewhere between 1823 and 1826 but so far we haven't found the common ground. Finding their marriage records would be most exciting.

Years ago, in some family notes, I found that Thomas Appleton was born in Delaware and Hannah in PA. I have since found a couple of census references to the Del. birthplace. Of course I know the census is not always correct but feel since Del. is unusual, it is probably true.

I have checked some Del. records but it has been a long time ago so I am due to recheck them. Also, in those early years, people did not move the distance from Del. to OH in one shot. So there are many reasons to believe they stopped in PA before moving on.

I wish I knew what Thomas's occupation had been. He did not own any property in Summit Co. OH and I did not find him on the personal tax records. (Did not own a horse or cow). Of course, he could have wandered the area but at least two of his children and both step-children stayed in the Northfield, Summit Co. area for a period of time.

The Etherington name is not familiar to me. I have seen something about Cornelius. I am very cautious so try not to jump backwards too quickly. It does seem odd though, that with the Appleton name being somewhat uncommon, all the families use many of the same given names. Perhaps they are all just one big happy family? Six generations ago. :)

Thomas Appleton died before 1854 and probably much earlier. In that year,(1854) his youngest son Wesley Nelson Appleton married. On the marriage application it was stated that he had lived with his brother-in-law (sister Rebecca) since he was 12 years old. Wesley would have been 12 in 1847-48. It plainly stated that Wesley's father was deceased and his mother was living in Indiana. We suspect, but have not proven, that his mother moved to IN with James Ryland, her son by her first marriage. (And John Ryland's progenitor) Thomas is not in the 1840 Summit Co. census although James Ryland was. So we are guesstimating Thomas died between 1836 (Wesley's birth) and the 1840 census.

I hope I have confused the issue any further. Please write and ask questions and maybe we can sort out what we know.

Joseph W. Appleton appears in the 1850 Census, listed as a cooper living in the inn belonging to Jacob Ross (Jr.) along with several other single male artisans. Later that year he married Jacob's sister Sarah. They lived in Industry, PA. We have a transcription of the letters he wrote to Sarah during his stint as a private in the Civil War. He was a member of the 140th Pa. Inf. Reg.[6] and wounded the 2nd day at the battle of Gettysburgh [Note: there is some question about this.]. Later on he was a trustee for the County Poor House. Jean Branstiter says she has a copy of his will, and we have a picture of his gravestone. She says also that "Joseph must have owned a parcel of land because on the 1870 census form his real estate and person property [are] valued at @$100 each." Also: according to Dillon's Rural Directory of Beaver County for 1909 Joseph is listed as a Gent.[7].

Ruel Ross Appleton, Sr. was educated in public schools and afterwards worked in Brighton Township, Beaver Co., PA in a "mercantile establishment" before attending Commercial College in Pittsburgh. After that he worked as clerk (accountant in Auditor's Office) for the Pennsylvania Railroad, later becoming agent in Wilmington, NC for Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machines. There is a notice somewhere that he went directly from the RR to his position in Brooklyn as auditor for W & W: "In 1875 (?) At age 22 gave up position with Pennsylvania Railroad in Pittsburgh to become Auditor for the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Manufacturing Company in Brooklyn, New York" (discrepancy should be checked). 1883 (April 4) marries Mary Frederika Schaumberg (b. June 19, 1863 in Concord, MA dau. of George Wilhelm Schaumberg and Sarah Elizabeth Wheeler). In 1885 becomes General Manager of Wheeler & Wilson (Brooklyn office, I assume), and organizes The R. R. Appleton Company (a.k.a. The Appleton Company), converters of cotton goods, which became one of the best known firms in the dry goods district of Manhattan. He also began to be involved in Brooklyn politics, eventually become an influential council member and city tax auditor for Brooklyn.

Lycurgus and Lidia had a son, Harry Hamilton Richardson, who was less than 10 years old at time of this marriage and so probably was part of the family group.

Branstiter states that in 1860 Lycurgus Richardson, age 17, was an apprentice blacksmith to Adam Hays, who lived in Ohio Twp, Beaver Co. Lycurgus was living with the Hays family at the time of the 1860 Census (taken August 17). She says: "He enrolled in the 17th PA Volunteer Cavalry on August 25, 1862 and in January 1863 was promoted to Blacksmith in the U.S. Cavalry and mustered out with Co. [14] Cause of death: apoplexy; medical information: cerebral hemorrhage. The information on her death certificate was provided by her sister Cora Appleton Oatman. (Branstiter) Branstiter continues: "Lycurgus was absent sick-left at Westminster june,1863, so missed the Battle of Gettysburg. He was in the hospital at Philadelphia, PA July 7th to Sept. 22nd, 1863, back sprain. There are several dates here: June 30th 1863 and August 31st 1863.

"He also supposedly deserted Sept. 22nd 1863. He participated in the Battles of Chancellorsville, Fredricksburg, and the Wilderness. He was with Sheridan in the raid through the Shenandoah Valley and at the surrender at Appomattox in 1865. After he returned home in 1866 he married Eliza J. Hamilton at Glasgow, Beaver Co., PA. They were married by A. J. Petit Esq. Eliza died on October 8, 1873. He then located in Pittsburgh, PA; worked there until June 1874 when he returned to Beaver Co. (Industry) working there until he married Anna F. Appleton, moving to Fairview, Beaver Co., working there until March 1883. Then to East Liverpool, OH until June 1884, moving back to Industry and conducted a shop there until June 1885, when he moved back to Beaver Falls, accepting the position of Superintendent of Beaver Falls Street Railway, operating the railway until Nov. 1, 1887. Resigning at that time he accepted a position as superintendent of the McKeesport Street Railway in Allegheny Co, PA. Politically he was a Republican. According to his pension papers he had grey hair and grey eyes.

"According to the 1896 McKeesport City Directory he was a supervisor of the Second Ave. Line and lived at 1219 Fifth Ave along with his wife Anna, his son, Oakley, who was a motorman, and a Stanford Richardson, who was a helper. According to the 1900 Census he [which one?—JC] was a laborer.

"We have a report from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Archives, Patient Register Book of the Allegheny County Hospital for the Insane No. 2 that he was admitted on June 23, 1903, his Register Number was 722 and he died on September 25, 1903. No other information was available from the medical records.

"In his father's will Lycurgus is given his Dad's Company Roll"

Lycurgus's cause of death is given as Subacute Gastritis. Branstiter also mentions that he had developed rheumatism due to the hardships of camp life during the Civil War[15]. Anna Florence Appleton Richardson applied for his Civil War pension on oct. 20, 1903 (she was 45 years old at the time)[16].

I'm searching for parents for Joseph W. Appleton who was b. around 1829 (somewhere in PA), m. (Dec. 3, 1850) Sarah Ross (b. 1829 in Westmoreland Co., PA) daughter of Jacob Ross and Hannah Peterson, and who d. (Joseph, that is) August 17th, 1919 in Beaver Co., PA. His children were:
Ruel Ross Appleton (b. June 18, 1853 in Industry, PA),
John Wilson Appleton,
William B. Appleton (who was a plasterer),
Cora Appleton (m. a man named Oatman)
Ida Appleton,
Anna Florence Appleton (b. 7/20/1858 in Beaver Co., PA and died in 3/4/1913).

Joseph himself was pretty well documented during his life in Industry, and during his stint in the Civil War. The 1850 census gives his occupation as cooper. Do any of these names ring a bell with anyone?

Here we can plainly see why so it is so important to check all the surrounding states when researching early Delaware records. As early as the mid-1600s, the areas marked on the map above were thriving cities. So if your ancestor lived between New Castle and Philadelphia, the records you see may be in Philadelphia. If your ancestor lived between New Castle and Salem, N.J., the records may be in New Jersey. If you're really lucky, the records may be in Delaware.

TAX ASSESSMENTS OF NEW CASTLE COUNTY, DELAWARE

1816 - 1817

Abstracted by Karen M. Ackerman, C.G.R.S.

PREFACE

According to the Assessment Act passed by the Delaware Senate, House of Representatives, and General Assembly, "...all real and personal property within this State" was liable for assessment. Property was given a valuation in dollars by the assessors to determine its worth.

Every "freeman" over the age of 21 was automatically assessed a "personal tax", whether or not he owned any other property. This tax, listed in the assessments under "his person" was usually one hundred and fifty dollars, although the law made provision for an amount "not less than one hundred dollars, nor exceeding five thousand". Single women, and widows who were heads of household, were not subject to the personal tax, nor were the estates of deceased residents (although the property held by an estate was assessed).

The dollar valuations given real and personal property have not been listed in these abstracts. For the most part, values were designated thusly:

> REAL PROPERTY: This includes any acreage owned, whether "improved" with structures, dwellings, etc., or unused land designated as "marsh", "swamp", or "cripple". The acres upon which dwellings stood were, naturally, given a higher dollar value per acre (some assessed at one hundred dollars and up). Barren, unimproved acreage, according to its condition, was valued at a lower amount (usually eight dollars per acre and up). Land owners, not tenants, were assessed for rented property.
>
> SLAVES: Slaves "for life", and those slaves indentured for a contracted number of years, were also designated a value in dollars. Young male slaves, considered good farm hands, were valued (depending upon their health and age) at one hundred to two hundred dollars. Women of childbearing age were designated a lower value, as were children. Elderly slaves and very small children normally received no valuation at all. A tragic testament to the inhumanity of the system of slavery, these men, women, and children were considered personal property, much as livestock, to be assessed. However, if not for the valuation of slaves as "property", those people searching for their enslaved ancestors would have lost the information, however slight, given in these lists.
> LIVESTOCK: Livestock was designated a dollar value, and sizable herds received the highest valuations. Even those who owned a single horse or cow (constituting the majority), were given a nominal valuation.

PLATE: The only household property to receive a dollar valuation (by ounces owned), this domestic ware was assessed for its plating of gold, silver or other base metals.

Dear Grandchildren

one and all, I rec'd your kind letter and as I am supposed, to be in my second childhood, I felt quite elated by your kind remembrance of such as me. Which when you are as old as I am you will feel real glad to know that your grandchildren (of which there may be some) think enough of you even if they are so little acquainted with you as you are of me. Well I am in as good health as can be expected of one of my age. I feel lame in my back think kidneys is cause, but I am so deaf I cant hear any common conversation. So no one hardly speaks to me unless to find some fault which of course I am always in fault. but not often think so. Well My sons George & Bert are good grey headed men I should be very well pleased if you could come out & see us in our home. We have had a cold backward spring. had a hard freeze on the night of the 10th inst ground froze to hard to drag. which was ready for it have no corn planted yet but think will have to morrow if weathe is favorable. We have not decided yet that our fruit is killed all peach & plum trees have been in full bloom for some time, apples are ~~go~~ just beginning to look nice & I of course am hopeful. dont hear what the rest say. Now Dear ones please try to read this as I never was a good writer but have used up a pack of envelops since last fall & have a new pack so I keep scribbling I hope this will find you all well and you will write to Grandma C Ryland

July 24 -1908

Dear Grand children

I received your letter yesterday, and was glad to be remembered in my old age, especially, as to day I have something to bring Sad remembrance to my mind as it is just Six years since your Grandpa died this morning. and I wonder why I am still here, I am nearly Six years older than he were was & older than either of my parents & dont know how long or how short a time I will have to stay. I have a Sister four years older than I. She is in her ninety second year since Feb-
Her sight is so poor that she cant see to read & is quite heard of hearing. my Sight is not as good as it used to be & I am so deaf that I cant hear comon talk.

2 It makes me feel lonesome but I take one daily paper and four weeklies that helps keep off lonesome, and Best takes two weeklys and a daily. so we have all that is profitable to read, but I take two monthlies, besides the daily & weeklies
I think my eyesight is failing and if it fails I shall let others take the papers. but how lonesome it will be when I cant read. I felt a very little disappointed to know that you could not come to see us. and as you have to make a fortune before you can come, it is likely I shall be passed on

3 When you see your Father tell them that I am usually wel hope this will find you all well and as well as I am. I hope you can ~~get~~ read this poor scribling and remember my love to you both, and hope you will write to me again and tell how you are getting along.
I ascribe myself your loving Grandma C Ryland

Dear grandchildren I dont think any but Norilla. deserves to be written to. I feel quite grateful to her, & if she can excuse your not writing. I am sure I ought to. Well we are all as well as usual & I am feeling glad that I am remembered, You wrote about your grandmother: I just wondered if She is as old as I am, & takes paper in lap to write to Grandchildren as I do. I hope she can write better if she does. I have a good many letters to write. but have but few grandchildren to write to. Byrd wrote a letter last week full off their baby. & said they were all well which I conclude is his father and mother too. Byrd talks of going to Dacotah in a few months, Should like so very well to see you and all. hope and wish that you might have such company as Byrd writes about but perhaps you are not good enough to raise them &c. You wrote about Walters wife not coming to see me: So I conclude she was East. Should be ever so glad to see you one & all. I expect Francis to visit me Christmas it is over two years since I saw him. he sent his picture taken when he was 64 years old, & it looks real old, He writes his health is not good nor has it been for years but still travels when able. Mary his wife is in as bad or worse fix. not able to do anything. or boss her work in kitchen. I think she must be different than usual, for she was one that liked to boss. a very good girl she was. Well this a.m. the weather looks like rain. Our men are trying to husk corn. hope Sun still come out to favor them. ground has been frozen leaves falling & soon winter So you have my poor writing pick out and my many thanks for your letter with love to all C Ryland Council Proceedings.

The Borough Council met on Monday evening. There was very little important business transacted, except remitting unpaid taxes, and the passage of the following bills:

J. N. Brown	$ 12 00
Charles Saxton	6 00
Samuel Holt	4 00
Bristol Gaslight Co	130 00
H. G. Peters	8 75
Jonathan Wright	57 66

A communication from the A. M. E. Church asking Council to take action to have the barber shops closed on Sunday, was laid on the table.

John Hope was exempted from the sewerage tax until his lease upon the wharf at the foot of Washington street expires.

Petitions for lamps on Washington and Penn streets, were referred to the appropriate committees, and a petition from the Hook and Ladder Company, asking for an appropriation to pay for the repair of the gong of the truck, which was recently broken, was referred to the Fire Committee.

A communication from Street & Preston containing a proposition for furnishing hose for the Fire Company, to replace that now in use, was laid upon the table.

An appropriation of 27 60 was made for ☞ A California paper says: "If any one has noticed a certain stiffness in the acting of the members of Baldwin's Theatre this week, they will please to take into consideration that Dr. Bishop vaccinated the entire company last week."

Lewis R. Appleton, of Langhorne, has been indicted in Philadelphia for the murder of his father, who lived in this county. Our grand jury failed to find a true bill against him.

The supper given by the M. E. Church in Morrisville, on Thanksgiving night, was quite a success. The net proceeds were sixty-two dollars.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FOR THE PRESIDENTIAL YEAR.

"THE LEADING AMERICAN NEWSPAPER."

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE for 1880.

During the coming Presidential year THE TRIBUNE will be a more effective agency than ever for telling the news best worth knowing, and for enforcing sound politics. From the day the war closed it has been most anxious for an end of sectional strife. But it saw two years ago, and was the first persistently to proclaim the new danger to the country from the revived alliance of the Solid South and Tammany Hall. Against that danger it sought to rally the old party of Freedom and the Union. It began by demanding the abandonment of personal dislikes, and set the example. It called for an end to attacks upon each other instead of the enemy; and for the heartiest agreement upon whatever fit candidates the majority should put up against the common foe. Since then the tide of disaster has been turned back; every doubtful State has been won, and the omens for National victory were never more cheering.

The Tribune's Position.

Of THE TRIBUNE's share in all this, those speak most enthusiastically who have seen most of the struggle. It will faithfully portray the varying phases of the campaign now beginning. It will earnestly strive that the party of Freedom, Union and the Public Faith may select the man surest to win, and surest to make a good President. But in this crisis it can conceive of no nomination this party could make that would not be preferable to the best that could possibly be supported by the Solid South and Tammany Hall.

THE TRIBUNE is now spending more labor and money than ever before to help the distinc-400th anniversary being celebrated July 10.

Edward Appleton aged 62 died on Thursday afternoon after a long illness and was buried from his late residence on Friday at 2 o'clock. Having lived in Langhorne since retiring and nearby while engaged in farming he was very well known and had many friends who express their sympathy for the family in their loss. He is survived by his wife, Sarah Schaffer Appleton, and by two children by his first marriage, Anna B. Appleton and Edward Appleton.

How largely the weather effects the spirit of the day was felt most strikingly at the Bucks County Country Club on the Fourth when the day was truly "glorious" and all events tried to rival the standard set by Dame Nature.

The president of the Club, Theodore Search, was most fortunate in the selection of the Independence Day Committee in its entirety, the subcommittees working up the various sports most successfully. An event of NORTHFIELD.

This township, originally called Town Five, Range Eleven, was one of the equalizing townships of the Reserve. As has been explained in previous sketches, the original proprietors, to make the different townships of the standard value, cut up some, and attached parts of such equalizing townships to the poorer townships to make them equal to what were called average townships. There were four townships that were called superior to the average, and each proprietor was anxious to have a portion of them—of these four Northfield was one. It, as well as the other three, was laid out into quarter sections of 160 acres each, so as to give each of the original proprietors a share. The proprietors, living in New England, and looking upon these shares as better investments than those made in their other lands, were not anxious to part with them. Some of the proprietors died leaving their shares to minor heirs, and thus the land was kept out of market; and the fact of its being one of the best townships on the Reserve, tended to keep it from sale and retard its growth. The first settler in the township was Isaac Bacon. He was born in Boston, Mass., in 1772, and when quite young, prompted by that active in New England, and looking upon these shares as better investments than those made in their other lands, were not anxious to part with them. Some of the proprietors died leaving their shares to minor heirs, and thus the land was kept out of market; and the fact of its being one of the best townships on the Reserve, tended to keep it from sale and retard its growth. The first settler in the township was Isaac Bacon. He was born in Boston, Mass., in 1772, and when quite young, prompted by that active energy that actuated the pioneers of the Reserve to break away from the crowded coast of the Atlantic, he left his native city, and removed to Genesee in the State of New York, where he purchased some land on which he commenced his improvements. In 1801 he married Nancy Cranmer, a sister of Jeremiah and Abraham Cranmer, long known as residents of Northfield.

But, for his active and enterprising spirit, even Genesee was too much cramped—and in 1806 he exchanged his farm there with Judge Phelps, for 320 acres in the Western Reserve; 160 acres of which lay in Northfield—being lot 63—on to which he the dead.

Having lived thus solitary and alone for four years, their solitude was relieved, in June 1810, by the arrival of Jeremiah Cranmer, a brother of Mrs. Bacon, who settled on Lot 72 and built a cabin half a mile from Bacon's.

In 1812, soon after the surrender of Hull, news came that the British had landed at Cleveland and were going to march through the country. Noble, Bacon, and Cranmer, resolved to remove their families to Hudson. The families got together at Bacon's and began to load their furniture on to their wagons, while Bacon started for Cleveland to ascertain the truth of the report.

While loading the wagons an Indian was seen skulking round the woods, when Cranmer advised him to be off as his scalp would be the forfeit if he was found there an hour later. As he was never afterwards heard from it is very doubtful whether he got out of the township.

The wagons were loaded with such articles as they could carry, and the balance buried in the earth. The teams, and families started and got about three miles towards Hudson, when Bacon returned and overtook them, with the intelligence that it was the American prisoners, surrendered by Hull, that the British had landed at Cleveland. The teams then returned to Northfield.

In the Spring of 1813 Abraham Cranmer came into the township, and purchased the North half of Lot 72, and formed a permanent settlement.

In June 1813 Henry Wood married Esther Cranmer, a daughter of Jeremiah Cranmer, being the first couple married in the township.

In 1814 George Wallace, of Cleveland, built a sawmill at Brandywine, in the North part of Boston, a few rods from the town line. The mill tract has since been added to and now forms a part of Northfield. In 1814 Wallace built a grist-mill, at the same place—and in the fall of that year he built a distillery, half a mile Northwest of the mill, which like other shrubs of that genus, budded, blossomed and brought forth the fruit of intemperance in abundance.

In the winter of 1815–16, Wallace brought on an assortment of dry goods, and established a store in his mill.

In March 1817 Henry Wood, John Duncan, Morris Cranmer, and several other families moved into the township, and located in different parts of it. In the fall of 1818 George Wallace to Cleveland, and from there up the Cuyahoga river to Boston, near the southwest corner of Hudson township. He had with him a company of men, and Joseph Darrow, the surveyor, and they cleared ten acres of land when he surveyed the township. The Darrows were no doubt among the earliest pioneers of this county. Joseph Darrow settled in the woods and cleared up the farm where our subject now lives, and he surveyed much of the land in this county, including the first road from Hudson to Canton.

Joseph Darrow and wife were the parents of the following children, all born in Stowe township: Polly, born February 3, 1805; Lyman, September 3, 1806; Abbie, November 24, 1808; Stephen, March 31, 1810; Julia, December 10, 1811; Sarah A., July 19, 1813; Caroline, January 1, 1815, Charles, September, 19, 1816; Seth, November 30, 1818; Catherine, January 22, 1821; Norman, October 14, 1822; Newry C., October 27, 1824; Clarissa, February 15, 1827.

Joseph Darrow was a democrat in politics, and died November 13, 1856, a venerable man of eighty-one years. He was a justice of the peace many years and much respected. He was a hunter and trapper in early days, for his own pleasure and the benefit of his family. He was one of the early members of the Masonic lodge, at Hudson, Ohio, and was liberal in religion, holding to the Universalists' belief. He was a man of sterling worth and high character.

Charles Darrow, son of above and father of George L. Darrow, was born September 19, 1816, on the farm where the latter now lives, and the first child born in the frame house still occupied by our subject and built in 1815-1816. He received a good education for his day in the old pioneer school-house and was always a farmer. He married, January 27, 1841, Sabra Wilcox, who was born July 2, 1818, a daughter of Nathan Wilcox. After marriage Mr. Darrow and wife settled on the old Darrow homestead, and here they passed all their remaining days. Both were members of the Methodist church, and in politics he was a republican. He was a strong Union man and had a son in the Civil war—Norman, a private in company G, One Hundred and Fifteenth regiment, Ohio volunteer infantry, who died of sickness at Camp Chase, Ohio, October 20, 1862. Mr. Darrow owned a good farm of 160 acres and was a substantial and respected man.

George L. Darrow received a good education in the public schools and became a farmer, and also learned the carpenter's trade. He married, September 3, 1876, in Darrowville, Emma R. Appleton, who was born July 28, 1858, in Northfield, Summit county, Ohio, a daughter of Wesley and Amanda (Norton) Appleton. Wesley Appleton was a soldier in the Civil war and was among the missing. Mr. and Mrs. Darrow have five children: Lottie M., Charles, Fred, Dorotha H. and Celia. Mr. Darrow is a substantial farmer and dealer in agricultural implements. In politics he has been a republican, a free silverite and a populist. He is a member of the Knights of Macabees at Hudson, Ohio, and a member of the Darrow Street grange. He stands high as a business man, is an excellent citizen, and his family is one of the most respected in the county. Lottie M. Darrow is now married to William H. Peck, a farmer of Stowe township.

1. Abraham Cranmer
2. Abel Havens
3. Jeremah Cranmer
4. John Duncan
5. Shubal Austin
6. George Wallace
7. John Britt
8. Henry Wood

Stephen Woodward

In 1819 there seems to have been a few more than fifteen. Another election was held in April, 1820 with twenty-six votes cast.

In June, 1819, Abraham Cranmer, constable, received a legal command from the state of Ohio to "warn" Huldah Seeley out of Northfield, and the trustees ordered her taken to Independence or Newburg. Jokingly, Northfield people told how Abraham put her on his horse and took her to Newburg and left her there, feeling the law there would be better able to take care of her.

In 1826 there were thirty-nine householders in Northfield, and in 1827 there were forty-seven. They were:

THE FIRST SETTLERS

The very first settlers in Northfield Township were the Isaac Bacon family. Mr. Bacon purchased 160 acres in 1806, then in 1807 he came with his family in a traditional covered wagon.

Mr. Bacon was a native of Massachusetts and must have passed through the northern gateway of the Appalachian mountains, then followed the Indian trails along the Great Lakes to Cleveland, and along the Cuyahoga River Valley to Northfield.

Madam:

In response to your letter dated January 17th, received January 23rd, returned for data and again received March 6, 1911, you are advised that you fail to give the name of your mother, or the organization in which your father served.

You are, however, advised that a claim for pension as indicated above, under the general law, was rejected February 20, 1884, on the ground that the report from the records of the War Department show that Nelsom Myers deserted the service March 18, 1864. It is not shown that he ever returned to the service, neither is it shown that he is dead. No claim for pension has ever been filed by the soldier.

If the above-named claimant is your mother, she apparently has no pensionable title under any law.

Very respectfully,

Commissioner.

My dear Mr. Bathrick:

In response to your communication of the 2d instant, received the 3d, relative to the pension case, original number 268,068, Amanda Starr, whose postoffice address appears to be care of Mr. G. L. Darrow, Tampa, Florida, as widow of Wesley N. Appleton, alias Nelson Myers, Co. A, 10th Ohio Cavalry, I have the honor to advise you that her claim for pension under the general law, filed June 14, 1880, was rejected February 20, 1884 on the ground of no title, as the reports from the records of the War Department show that soldier deserted March 18, 1864, and there is no evidence to show that he ever returned to the U. S. Service. It appears that she has no title to pension under any law.

Very respectfully,

J. L. DAVENPORT.

Commissioner.

Rejected on the ground that the Report from the Adjutant General U.S. A. shows that the soldier deserted March 18. 1864, and there is no evidence to show that he ever afterward returned to the United States service.

HISTORY OF HUDSON.

Joseph W. Likens was the first bona fide settler in this township. He stopped on Section 33, bought 40 acres and dealt in cattle. A. M. Warren came in the Fall of 1829, and settled on Section 4. Nathan Haines came in Nov. 1830, on Section 28; Mr. Drulinger, on Section 33. For two or three years this township did not settle up very fast. Robert Simmiwell, an Indian Agent, Teacher and Missionary, established a branch of the "Cary Mission," in this township. Asher White settled on Section 33 about 1833; Benjamin Hicks on Section 19 in 1835 (?). Elmore Emmons was in at an early date west of Hudson Lake. Andrew Avery built a grist and saw-mill on the Hudson Lake in 1836. The first school house was built in Hudson. John Jones an Indian Merchant in Hudson, was one of the first settlers. The Methodist Episcopal Denomination built a church, and also the Protestant Methodists in 1867, on Section 19, and 7 or 8.

Dear Helen,

Thank you for your response to my query in the Tri-State Trader. I was waiting to see if I received any more but, unfortunately, nothing yet.

I do not think I am going to be much help with your Appleton family but maybe together we can come up with something —

All I know about my John Appleton is that he died in Macon Co. Illinois, on or about 16 Sept. 1853. I do not know how old he was, nor where he was born. He did not own any land there, neither did he leave a will. I do have some very interesting copies of transactions related to the closing of his estate — the doctor's bill, funeral expenses, auction of his goods etc. but these contain hardly any clues about himself or his family. "Child" is mentioned by the doctor — so far I have assumed this to be MARCUS, born 19 Oct. 1849 (or 1848) in Ohio. One of the papers is a citation to Enoch Gibbs, (administrator of estate in 1854) "Guardian of John Appleton" to appear in court in 1860 to "make settlement". I donot know if this refers to outstanding debts etc. in the estate, or whether he was made guardian of some other children of John Appleton. No luck when I wrote to the Macon Co. Courthouse for further info.

Rebecca, widow of John Appleton, was born August 27, 1817 in Ohio. That would make her around 32 years old when Marcus was born. It seemed like they used to marry quite young, so she possibly had been married before, or she & John Appleton did indeed have older children. All I know is that when she married Archibald Lowery & came to Iowa Marcus was the only child she took. Archibald already had four children by Sarah Roe, who must have died in Macon. Co. sometime between 1850 - 1854. Then, on Feb. 22, 1855, Archibald & Rebecca have a child, Nancy Elizabeth — from whom my husband is descended.

So, you can see that, in order to pursue the line back any further I do need the maiden name of Rebecca. I have been trying to find where they were married - no luck. Also, I cannot find them in the 1850 Census. The indexes for Ohio, Indiana, Illinois have been searched & the "Johns" I have found have been the wrong ones. I even searched Michigan, Kentucky & Penn., I believe It would seem logical that they should be somewhere between Ohio & Illinois, since Rebecca was born in Ohio, & Marcus would have been one year or so old, also born in Ohio. I have not checked the eastern states yet. I did go through the film of Macon Co. because possibly their name was overlooked in the index printing, but they were not there in 1850.

Many of the Appletons I have looked at were born in New York.

Rebecca, widow of John Appleton, was born August 27, 1817 in Ohio. That would make her around 38 years old when Marcus was born. It seemed like they used to marry quite young, so she probably had been married before, or else John Appleton did indeed have other children. All I know is that when she married Archibald Murray & came to Iowa, Marcus was the only child she had. Archibald already had five children by first wife, who must have died in Iowa in sometime between 1850 - 1854. Then on Feb 22, 1855, Archibald & Rebecca have a child Nancy Elizabeth -- from whom my husband is descended.

So, you can see that, in order to pursue, the line back any further I do need the maiden name of Rebecca - I have been trying to find where they were married -- in back, Ohio, I cannot find them in the 1850 Census. Have searched for Ohio, Indiana, Illinois have been searched & the "Johns" I have found have been the wrong ones. Have searched Michigan, Kentucky & Penn., & Indiana. It would seem logical that they should be somewhere between Ohio & Illinois, since Rebecca was born in Ohio, & Marcus would have been one year or so old, also born in Ohio. I have not checked the southern states yet. I doubt if through the failure of [illegible] the Census, possibly their name was omitted in the index printing, but they were not there in 1850.

Being of the Appletons. I have looked at some from in New York.

Marcus Appleton later lived in Oklahoma, & evidently took the Lowery family bible with him. I'd love to find that! I did contact a grandson. He sent me much information on Marcus' wife & her family, but did not know of the Appletons. He refered me to a cousin, but I did not get any reply. The grandson said his ~~f~~ grandfather's middle name was BURM or BURMER, but in Archibald's will he is refered to as Marcus BROWN Appleton. Possibly his mother's maiden name?

So, as you can see, I'm not much help. Once I find John Appleton in the 1850 Census, then I'll at least have a date & place of birth and maybe our families do connect.

I'll certainly keep my eyes open for your family & appreciate you doing the same for me as I do not know of anyone else researching the Appletons.

I did notice that you do have two names that are also in my husband's family tree —

① MARY FARRAR m. James Emerson, 1744 at Reading, Mass.

② Eunice HUNT (b. N. Carolina, 1808) m. James S. Cook. Her father was William Hunt (b. 1781 Guilford Co., N.C.) The Hunts were Quakers.

Toledo is the county seat of Tama - population 2,500 - somewhat smaller than your Toledo!

Thank you for writing.

Yours sincerely,

Christine Draisey

Marcus Appleton later lived in Oklahoma, + apparently that the Lowery family left with him. I'd like to find out! I did contact a grandson — he sent me much information on Marcus' wife & her family, but did not know of the Appletons. He referred me to a cousin, but I did not get any reply. The grandson said his grandfather's middle name was BURN or BURNER, but I [illegible] with the 2 agreed it was Marcus Bryant Appleton, evidently from mother's maiden name.

As for your own, I'm not much help. Once I found John Appleton in the 1850 Census. He still must have a date & place of birth, and perhaps not given the correct.

I'll continue to keep my eyes open for your family & appreciate your doing the same for me. We'll let each know of anyone else researching the Appletons.

I did notice that you do have two names that are also in my husband's family tree —

(5) Nancy FARRAR m. James Emerson, Town of Reading, Mass.

(6) Eunice HUNT (b. N. Carolina 1800) m. James S. Peck. Her father was William Hunt (b. 1761 Guilford Co., N.C.) — he was a Quaker.

Related to the [illegible] of [illegible] — [illegible] I'm interested [illegible] your details!

Thank you for writing.

Yours sincerely,
Christine [illegible]

IN MEMORIAM

Our Mother

At this time we are called to pay this late tribute to our blessed mother. Mother, compassed within that holy word, all the virtues, all the joys and all the sympathies of womankind. From the summit of the monument, builded by the milestones of the years that are gone, we look back over life's highway, and in all and through all is woven the love and the life of Mother. Sweet simplicity ennobled a character as spotless as the snow. Knowing no duty but her God and family, she pointed us the righteous way. For a little more than her three score years she and our father journeyed together along life's pathway. And when death called him away, with resignation and fortitude she awaited the summons to join him on the Other Shore.

To her we owe all we are or hope to be. She it was who guarded us in our infancy; who in youth taught us the noble tenets of life; in manhood counseled the ways of righteousness. To her tomb do we bring all we have to offer, adn lay it down. May she rest in peace until the resurrection morn. Her Children.

Card of Thanks

We hereby desire to express and tender our thanks and appreciation to the neighbors and friends who, each and all, so kindly assisted us with deeds of love and words of sympathy in the loss of our mother, who died November 3, 1908. Trusting that they all may be rewarded by Him who doeth all things well.
